MEMORANDUM

To: Members, Advisory Committee on Academic Programs
From: Renea Eshleman, Acting Director of Academic Affairs and Licensing

2013 Annual Report on the Academic Common Market Program

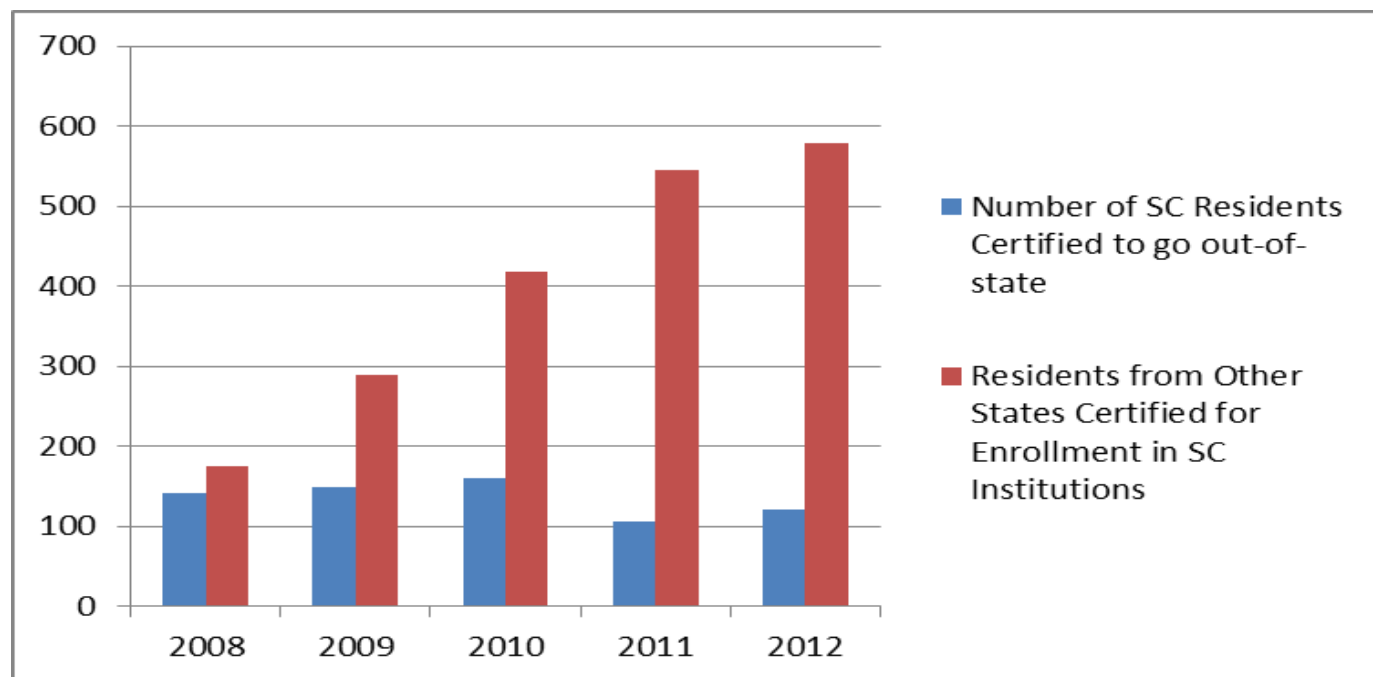

Established in 1974 by the Southern Regional Education Board (SREB), the Academic Common Market program was designed “to share between states specified degree programs located at southern public colleges and universities through an exchange of students across borders at in-state rates.” As a cooperative agreement among states, the Academic Common Market seeks to eliminate unnecessary duplication of degree programs among states while supporting those programs that are able to serve additional students.

Each participating state compiles its own list of programs for access by its residents. Eligible programs are those undergraduate and graduate programs which are at least 50 percent different in course content from programs offered in the home state. Concentrations, options, tracks, or specialization within more general (and otherwise ineligible) degree programs must be extraordinary, specific, and structured to merit eligibility for the Academic Common Market. In South Carolina, the Academic Common Market institutional coordinators at all the public institutions are asked to review new program nominations as well as the currently available programs before a decision is made for inclusion of a program. Students can request inclusion of additional programs throughout the year.

In South Carolina, interested students must contact the Commission on Higher Education for access to the Academic Common Market (ACM). This process involves two steps. First, Commission staff must determine whether the student has satisfied the required one-year period of residency in the state by using the South Carolina Code of Laws for Determination of Rates of Tuition and Fees (Title 59, Chapter 112). Secondly, the Commission staff must verify that the student is fully admitted to one of the specific programs to which South Carolina residents have ACM access. Once a student is certified as having met the eligibility requirements, the student retains Academic Common Market status as long as he or she remains enrolled full-time in the same degree program and retains South Carolina residency.

In 2012, South Carolina certified 122 state residents to go to other states while 578 students from other states were certified for ACM programs at South Carolina institutions. Attachment I shows certifications by state of enrollment and state of residence.

As seen in the graph below, South Carolina continues to bring into the state more students than it certifies to go out-of-state and this number increased significantly during 2012. It is important to note that these numbers reflect the number of students certified, not the actual number of students who finally decided to go an out of state institution.

In 2012, the majority of South Carolina Academic Common Market students were certified for programs in Tennessee (49) and Georgia (22). The three most requested programs by South Carolina applicants were aerospace engineering, recording industry, and medical technology. Each program received 18 South Carolina ACM certifications.

In Fall 2012, South Carolina institutions had a total of 583 out-of-state students enrolled with Academic Common Market status. As in previous years, the South Carolina program with the most ACM students was the Bachelor of Science in Marine Science at Coastal Carolina University with a total of 355 ACM certified students. Attachment II shows the number of ACM students enrolled by institution, program, and degree level.

The 96 programs currently made available through the Academic Common Market by South Carolina institutions are listed in Attachment III.

To advertise this valuable program, which costs the state nothing, the Academic Common Market program information was transmitted electronically this spring to over 250 high school guidance counselors.

This report is being presented for information only.
