

U.S. Department of Education Information

Q: Where can I find information from the U.S. Department of Education?

A: For important information regarding ITT's closure, visit the Department's Federal Student Aid page. This page provides information about a schedule of webinars the Department is hosting for students of ITT.

The U.S. Department of Education has posted several updates to its blog, including a letter from the Secretary of Education to ITT students, FAQs related to the actions it took against ITT, and advice to students for moving forward. For more blog posts, visit Homeroom: The Official Blog of the U.S. Department of Education.

The U.S. Department of Education has created a website for students at closing colleges including ITT students.

Updated on 09/27/2016