Background Information

State the nature and purpose of the proposed program, including target audience and centrality to institutional mission. (1500 characters)

The purpose of the existing B.A. in English at USCB is to cultivate in its students a broad cultural awareness and the ability to read carefully, think critically and write effectively, through study of literature, cultural and textual analysis, writing, and the English language itself. The proposed B.A. in English, with Secondary English Language Arts (ELA) Licensure extends these purposes to prepare students for secondary education licensure and careers in teaching. The program will target students from USCB's four county service region and is central to USCB's mission.

The proposed program directly supports three key areas of USCB's mission:

- 1) USCB offers baccalaureate degrees that "respond to regional needs, draw upon regional strengths, and prepares graduates to contribute locally, nationally, and internationally with its mission of teaching, research, and service.
 - As noted above, this program responds to regional needs. The region consists of highly differentiated communities on social levels. Its infrastructures pertaining to family, government, schools, the economy, sports, science, art, health and medicine, all warrant a trained and educated populace.
 - As the region continues to grow, the need for teachers in multiple disciplines will increase. Teachers in Secondary English will be valued highly in the region.
- 2) USCB "offers degree programs in the arts, humanities, professions, and social and natural sciences."
 - The B.A. with a major in English, with Secondary English Language Arts Licensure at USCB will interface with Secondary Teacher Education program in Biology and Mathematics, and will contribute to the expanding roles of the Education Department.

Agenda Item 2e

The main objective of the proposed program is to produce knowledgeable, qualified, and professional secondary teachers in English Language Arts, in accordance with South Carolina standards and with the National Council for Teachers of English (NCTE) Standards for Initial Preparation of Teachers (Grades 7-12). The program will produce teacher candidates who...

- demonstrate knowledge of English language arts subject matter content that specifically includes literature and multimedia texts as well as knowledge of the nature of adolescents as readers,
- demonstrate knowledge of English language arts subject matter content that specifically includes language and writing as well as knowledge of adolescents as language users,
- plan instruction and design assessments for reading and the study of literature to promote learning for all students,
- plan instruction and design assessments for composing texts (i.e., oral, written, and visual) to promote learning for all students,
- plan, implement, assess, and reflect on research-based instruction that increases motivation and active student engagement, builds sustained learning of English language arts, and responds to diverse students' context-based needs,
- demonstrate knowledge of how theories and research about social justice, diversity, equity, student identities, and schools as institutions can enhance students' opportunities to learn in English Language Arts,
- are prepared to interact knowledgeably with students, families, and colleagues based on social needs and institutional roles, engage in leadership and/or collaborative roles in English Language Arts professional learning communities, and actively develop as professional educators.

The program, as a B.A. in English, will also produce graduates with the strong reading and writing skills characteristic of English graduates and prepare them for the wide range of career opportunities beyond teaching, if they choose not to teach.

Assessment of Need

Provide an assessment of the need for the program for the institution, the state, the region, and beyond, if applicable. (1500 characters)

Institutionally, the program is needed to help USCB live more fully into its mission. USCB is the only public comprehensive teaching institution in South Carolina that does not provide the means for a student to be recommended for licensure in secondary ELA. USCB already offers a B.A. in English, as well as a B.S. in Mathematics with secondary licensure and B.S. programs in Early Childhood and Elementary Education. Many of our students frequently ask about how to become secondary ELA teachers, and, in our exit surveys, tell us we need to create a route to licensure.

The Beaufort and Jasper County School Districts have both written letters of support for this program. The Beaufort Co. district tells us that annually there are “on average 17-19 vacancies for Secondary English Teachers due to resignations, retirements, or terminations,” and that they will need an additional two Secondary English Teachers annually through 2021-22. The population of Beaufort County is expected to grow by 32.8% by 2030 (outstripping the state growth rate of 17.8%), according to projections by the SC Revenue and Fiscal Affairs Office of 2010 Census Data. SC’s Center for Educator Recruitment, Retention, and Advancement (CERRA) conducts teacher and administrator supply and demand surveys, and reports the data annually. The most recent report, for the 2015-16 school year, shows there were 1,916.65 licensed ELA teaching positions (FTEs) in SC high schools. There were more licensed teaching positions in ELA than in any other high school subject area. South Carolina’s 2014 “Read to Succeed Act” speaks to the great need for teachers who can and will help South Carolina’s K-12 students read and write more effectively and critically.

South Carolina Student Loan provides loan forgiveness for teachers willing to teach in certain schools they call "Critical Geographic Schools." For the 2016-17 school year, these schools include Whale Branch Early College (Beaufort), Ridgeland-Hardeeville (Jasper), Wade Hampton (Hampton 1), Estill (Hampton 2), and Colleton High.

The chart above also includes a variety of professions other than teaching because of the broad applicability of the English degree should the graduate decide not to teach.

Provide supporting evidence of anticipated employment opportunities for graduates, including a statement that clearly articulates what the program prepares graduates to do, any documented citations that suggests a correlation between this program and future employment, and other relevant information. Please cite specific resources, as appropriate. (3000 characters)

The addition of a Bachelors of Arts in English, with Secondary ELA Licensure will complement the current English degree and Education degrees. Students of the new degree will take many courses currently provided for the English major as well as many Education courses currently provided for the Mathematics majors on the Secondary Teacher Education track and projected Biology Secondary Teacher degree. This will help fill some courses that presently have small enrollments while expanding others that are near maximum seating.

Are there any special articulation agreements for the proposed program?

Yes

No

If yes, identify. (1000 characters)

USCB has already established the PASSPORT program with the Technical College of the Lowcountry (TCL) to plan for optimal transition of TCL graduates into USCB. Once the proposed program has been approved by the SC CHE and the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC), USCB will work with TCL and other two-year colleges on articulation agreements to build a path for graduates to gain entrance to USCB. USCB already has articulation agreements in place with TCL for Elementary and Early Childhood Education programs.

For ease of transfer, the Statewide Articulation Agreement of 86 courses approved by the SC CHE for transfer from two-to-four-year public institutions is applicable to all public institutions, including two-year institutions and institutions within the same system. This list of courses is available on the SC CHE and SC TRAC websites. Additionally, coursework (i.e., individual courses, transfer blocks, and statewide agreements) covered within this transfer policy will be transferable if the student has completed the coursework with a "C" grade (2.0 on a 4.0 scale) or above.

One new hire with Secondary ELA licensure will be “devoted just to the new program” in English, and will be added in Year 2. This faculty member will teach the methods courses, supervise interns, and serve as the coordinator of the program. One-quarter of that person’s load will be administrative.

The USCB Department of Education will also conduct a search for a Tenure Track / Tenured Professor of Literacy to serve this degree program and the existing Mathematics-Secondary Track. This new hire will teach EDRD B319 and EDRD B429, or 0.25 of the annualized teaching load. Because students in these courses will be drawn from the Mathematics and English Secondary Education programs, the Faculty FTE requirement attributable to the Secondary English program is 0.125.

USCB's students have access to a rich array of resources, including 91,000+ books on campus, plus 500,000+ E-books, subscriptions to over 100 databases and the availability of 200,000+ online journals in all discipline areas. Relating to the proposed degree program, USCB has 10,708 print monographs. Specifically, these titles cover the Library of Congress subject heading, English Language [call number range PE1001-PE 3729], as well as, English Language – Study and Teaching (Secondary) [call number range LB1631]. . Also through comprehensive interlibrary loan services and delivery systems through regional consortia, USCB students have access to rich resources available nationwide. In SC alone, by being a member of PASCAL, students and faculty have access to over 9 million books and other academic materials. USCB also is a member of KUDZU, a group of 17 southeastern university research libraries that shares resources among its members.

Student support services, programs, and activities are available to students taking courses on the Historic Beaufort (HB) campus, on the Hilton Head Gateway (HHG) campus, and via distance education. Because the services are already in place, there are no other associated costs. These include computer support, career services, counseling and disability services, and the Student Success Center (academic advising, tutoring, and a Writing Center).

Physical Resources

Identify any new instructional equipment needed for the proposed program. (500 characters)

No major equipment expenditures are anticipated for the proposed program. The only item that might be added will be additional smart boards on both campuses, likely to be installed prior to this program becoming operative.

Will any extraordinary physical facilities be needed to support the proposed program?

Agenda Item 2e

Budget Justification

Provide a brief explanation for the other new costs and any special sources of financing (state funding, reallocation of existing funds, federal funding, or other funding) identified in the Financial Support table. (1000 characters)

Note: Institutions need to complete this budget justification only if any other new costs, state funding, reallocation of existing funds, federal funding, or other funding are included in the Financial Support table.

There are no expected "Other Costs" or other special state appropriations. All funds to be generated through tuition and fees.

Reallocation of Existing Funds reflects tuition revenue from USCB students changing major to the English-Secondary Licensure program. Although the "transfer students" in the projected enrollment table may be internal transfers or transfers from other institutions, the total tuition from these students has been accounted for as Reallocation of Existing Funds.

Agenda Item 2e

Evaluation and Assessment

Programmatic Assessment: Provide an outline of how the proposed program will be evaluated, including any plans to track employment. Identify assessment tools or software used in the evaluation. Explain how assessment data will be used. (3000 characters)

Student achievement of learning outcomes will be measured in a number of ways using both direct and indirect assessment methods.

1. Direct assessment methods will include assessments from individual courses, including graded homework, quizzes, exams, final exams, project evaluations, portfolio reviews, research/expository papers, and simulations. Students will also build portfolios across semesters.
2. Indirect assessment methods will include focus groups, exit and other interviews, graduation rates, transfer rates, written surveys and questionnaires to include student perception, alumni perception, internship perception, employer perceptions, the Rising Junior Survey, graduating student survey, and alumni surveys.

Upon graduation, students will be tracked in terms of the rate of acceptance to related graduate programs, the successfulness in obtaining (or enhancing) employment, and the number of students pursuing and succeeding, as well as success rates on the PRAXIS II test (English Language Arts: Content and Analysis [5039]).

Program evaluation is an important aspect of USCB's ability to communicate to various constituencies that academic programs are strong, relevant to the mission, continuously improving, and performing at a level worthy of institutional, state and regional support. In 2003, the University implemented an Institutional Effectiveness & Strategic Planning Framework (IESPF) that includes a series of activities and a timeline to ensure a continuous planning process and a feedback loop in regard to the desired outcomes of its educational programs and its academic and educational support services.

All academic programs are reviewed internally using USCB's annual Institutional Effectiveness and Outcomes Assessment (IE-OA) process where program objectives and student learning outcomes are assessed and results used for program improvement. All academic programs draft annual IE-OA Plans and Close-out Reports, which are reviewed by the IE-OA Council and a final report is sent to the Chancellor, Administrative Council, and Budget Committee for review.

Students are afforded the opportunity to evaluate each course and course instructor both qualitatively and quantitatively each semester. Faculty and their Department Chair are given access to collated data in order to assess the strengths and weaknesses of the course both in terms of course content and teaching approach.

The Department in collaboration with the Director of Career Services will develop, administer, and evaluate surveys to gauge graduate employment rates, student satisfaction, successful admission to graduate school, and employer satisfaction. Feedback from the surveys will be used to make program improvements. Lastly, an external advisory board will be developed to provide guidance in program development and improvement, to include ways to enhance USCB's service to public, private, and non-profit sectors and impart a competitive advantage to the state of SC.

Accreditation from the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP), formerly NCATE, will be sought for the program. Detailed information on key outcomes/assessments is provided in the SPA or Other National Specialized and/or Professional Association Standards section of this proposal. These outcomes/assessments are aligned with the appropriate Specialized Accreditation Agency, the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE).

The Unit is effectively implementing the ADEPT system in field and clinical experiences.

ADEPT Standards are integrated in the practicum for all initial programs through use of the following assessments:

- Secondary ELA Formative Observation Form (Practicum)
- Secondary ELA Practicum Evaluation (Midterm and Final)
- Secondary ELA Practicum Evaluation (Midterm and Final) Rubric

ADEPT Standards are integrated into the clinical experience (internship) for all initial programs through the use of the following assessments:

- “Fulfilling Professional Responsibilities” (APS 10) Internship Self-Evaluation Rubric

Incorporation of the ADEPT Performance Standards (APSs)

- All required lesson and unit plans submitted to LiveText by teaching candidates and interns are developed to align with the South Carolina College- and Career Ready Standards for English Language Arts.
- The Teacher Work Sample (TWS) submitted to LiveText by the intern is aligned with ADEPT Performance Standards 1-10. The TWS is assessed by the University Supervisor and data is entered into LiveText using the Teacher Work Sample Rubric.
- The USCB Formative Evaluation Form for APS Standards 1-10 is submitted electronically from teachers and supervisors to LiveText. Data will be downloaded to Excel spreadsheets to more easily aggregate and summarize data. Cooperating Teachers and University Supervisors enter their own USCB Formative Evaluation Form data electronically into LiveText.
- The Secondary ELA Practicum Evaluation (Midterm and Final) Rubric and the Secondary ELA Internship Evaluation (Midterm and Final) Rubric align with APS Standards 1-10. Cooperating teachers and University Supervisors work in tandem to evaluate the teacher candidate. The University Supervisor enters data in LiveText using the Secondary ELA Practicum Evaluation (Midterm and Final) Rubric and the Secondary ELA Internship Evaluation (Midterm and Final) Rubric

Clinical Practice: Formal Assessments and Assistance

- University supervisors will meet with clinical interns a minimum of six times in accordance with state guidelines. The university supervisor’s initial visit is required to occur during the first 5 days of the intern placement.
- University Supervisors will conduct three formal observations of the candidate and the cooperating teacher will conduct three formal observations.
- USCB will require a video analysis and self-evaluation of pedagogical skills on ADEPT Key Elements (APS 4-9) for at least one lesson during the clinical experience in order to prepare candidates who are reflective and assist candidates for formal evaluation in the field with SAFE-T. This evaluation will be collected using the LiveText Lesson Plan Form in order to electronically manage the data.

Clinical Experiences will include a minimum of the following:

- Candidate Orientation: Review of updated USCB Secondary ELA Clinical Internship Handbook with all required forms, responsibilities, and requirements.
- Cooperating Teacher Orientation: Review of updated USCB Secondary ELA Clinical Internship Handbook with all required forms, responsibilities, and requirements.

D. South Carolina Standards of Conduct

<https://ed.sc.gov/scdoe/assets/file/agency/ee/Educator-Services/Licensure/documents/standardsofconduct.pdf>

Candidates are informed in writing of the state Standards of Conduct (59-25-160; 59-25-530; 63-17-1060) required for initial certification.

All initial licensure candidates attend a mandatory Orientation session on admission to the professional program. The South Carolina Code of Conduct is addressed during this session and the Code of Conduct Handout is reviewed with candidates. The Code of Conduct Handout will also be provided to candidates in hardcopy format two times during their program. First, the document is distributed to students in EDCI B210 – Observation and Analysis, which serves as the students’ first Education course, taken in the fall of the students’ second year. All students must complete a Student Contract Acknowledging Receipt of Code of Conduct. In addition, the Code of Conduct Handout is also given to candidates in ENGL B482 – Secondary ELA Seminar, the course that accompanies the candidates’ internship. Candidates’ professional conduct is assessed using the Formative Observation Form and the Secondary ELA Internship Evaluation (Midterm and Final).

E. South Carolina Safe School Climate Act

Candidates in all initial certification programs have the knowledge, skills and dispositions to identify and prevent bullying, harassment, and intimidation in schools. After classroom instruction on the Safe School Climate Act, all candidates in initial programs will demonstrate knowledge and skills related to this act through completion of various assessments as noted in the table below:

<http://ed.sc.gov/instruction/standards-learning/>

Candidates in all certification programs know, understand, and can apply the South Carolina College- and Career-Ready P-12 Standards in the area in which they seek certification. Candidates in all programs align their lessons with the South Carolina College- and Career-Ready Standards for P-12 for their certification area.

The Lesson Plan Template demonstrates this alignment. In addition, all interns are required to include South Carolina P-12 Standards and Learning in their Teacher Work Sample (TWS) instructional plan and lesson plans. See TWS Dimension 2 Description.

H. Field and Clinical Experiences Requirements

<http://www.scteachers.org/ADEPT/evalpdf/EducatorPreparationGuidelines.pdf>

Candidates at the initial undergraduate level have completed a minimum of 100 hours of field experiences prior to clinical practice.

As the table below indicates, candidates complete 150 hours of field experiences prior to their internship clinical practice. Candidates are taught the ADEPT Standards (APS) in coursework and are observed during field experiences, the clinical internship, and the first years of teaching. During an initial one and a half-day Senior Seminar, clinical faculty review the ADEPT standards with candidates in regard to clinical practice.

During the fall semester of their senior year, candidates are enrolled in ENGL B481 Secondary ELA Practicum where they complete 120 field experience hours. During the spring semester of their senior year, candidates are enrolled in ENGL B483 Secondary ELA Internship where they complete 600 hours of clinical practice. ADEPT APS Standards 2-9 are integrated on the Formative Observation Form that is used to assess candidate competencies in ENGL B481 and ENGL B483.

In addition, candidates are provided detailed instructions for completing assessments that include the Long-Range Plan (ADEPT APD 1) Internship Assignment, the “Fulfilling Professional Responsibilities” (APS 10) Internship Self-Evaluation, and the Teacher Work Sample (TWS). Moreover, the ENGL B481 Practicum Midterm and Final Evaluations and the ENGL B483 Internship Midterm and Final Evaluations assess candidates ADEPT APS competencies.

Transition Points, Key Assessments and Requirements

Candidates for the B.A. in English, with Secondary ELA Licensure progress through a series of levels. Some course assessments will change based on the requirements of the Secondary English Specialized Professional Association (SPA, the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE))

Candidates' progress is formally monitored at each transition point as described below.

A. Procedures for Monitoring Candidates' Progress

Initial Undergraduate Level

Transition Point 1: Admission to the English, with Secondary English Licensure Program

1. The undergraduate candidate applies to the USCB Office of Admissions. Upon acceptance, the Office of the Registrar provides the Department of English, Theater, and Liberal Studies with a list of students identifying themselves as pre-professional majors in English, with Secondary ELA Licensure.

2. Pre-professional majors are assigned an advisor who facilitates and monitors progression through the program.
3. Pre-professional majors complete general education coursework and pre-professional coursework with a minimum GPA of 2.75, and successfully pass the Praxis™ Core Academic Skills for Educators tests.
4. Pre-professional majors submit a Professional Program Application prior to the semester they wish to enter the program.
5. The Advisor verifies the satisfactory completion of all requirements with the applicant, and interviews the applicant, and recommends the candidate to the Department Chair for formal admission into the professional education program. The English Teacher Education Committee evaluates applicant materials and makes a decision whether or not to accept each applicant into the professional program.
6. The department then notifies all applicants, with an email and a letter, of their acceptance or denial into the professional program. In these communications to applicants that are denied, the department will specify the requirements that were not met.
7. The department will then lift course holds for accepted students so they can register for professional program classes.
8. A list of candidate names documents the new cohort.

Transition Point 2: Admission to Internship

1. The candidate submits a Clinical Internship Application and the South Carolina Certification Application to the Field Placement Coordinator on or before January 15th for fall semester internship and May 1st for spring semester internship.
2. The Field Placement Coordinator enters undergraduate candidate data on an Excel spreadsheet and monitors and verifies the completion of all requirements for admission to internship (Transition Point 2) and begins the internship placement process.
3. Candidates must pass the Praxis II: English Language Arts: Content Knowledge (5039) exam prior to internship placement.
4. The English Teacher Education Committee evaluates applicant materials, interviews applicants, and makes a decision whether or not to accept each applicant into the internship.
5. The department then notifies all applicants, with an email and a letter, of their acceptance or denial into the internship. In these communications to applicants that are denied, the department will specify the requirements that were not met.
6. The department will then lift course holds for accepted students so they can register for ENGL 482 Secondary ELA Seminar and ENGL 483 Secondary ELA Internship.
7. The Field Placement Coordinator finalizes the internship placements and notifies candidates of their placements during the first week of ENGL 482.

Transition Point 3: Completion of Internship

1. The candidate's university supervisor and cooperating teacher monitor and assess the candidate's progress through the internship.
2. The Field Placement Coordinator verifies the completion of all requirements for the internship by entering the information into the designated Excel spreadsheet.

Transition Point 4: Program Completion and Recommendation for Licensure

1. The candidate submits a Graduation Application the semester prior to graduation. The Advisor reviews the form with the candidate and submits it to the Department Chair for final approval.
2. The Department Chair provides the Office of the Registrar verification that the candidate has passed the Praxis II: English Language Arts: Content Knowledge (5039) exam and Principle of Learning and Teaching: Grades 7-12 (5624) exam.
3. The Office of the Registrar audits the candidate's completion of program requirements.
4. The Field Placement Coordinator submits the names and evidence of the candidates to the Department Chair, who recommends the candidates for South Carolina licensure.
5. The Department Chair mails the original signed Verification of Program Completion form to the South Carolina Department of Education Office of Certification and retains one copy for the candidate's file.

The above courses, along with the program-required courses EDRD 319: Foundations of Reading for Secondary Teachers (3 hours) and EDRD 429: Content Literacy for Secondary Teachers (3 hours), also fulfill the Regular Program Add-on Certification requirements for secondary English certification as outlined in the South Carolina Educator Licensure Manual.

In addition, candidates must successfully complete the following Praxis II and Principle of Learning (PLT) requirements.

Test Name	CDT Code	Qualifying Score
English Language Arts: Content Knowledge (Praxis II)	5039	168
Principles of Learning and Teaching: Grades 7-12	5624	157

The program will also seek national recognition by the CAEP designated SPA (NCTE, National Council of Teachers of English).

J. Annual Reports (AACTE/CAEP and Title II)

Annual reports (e.g., Title II and AACTE/CAEP) will be completed and submitted at the required deadlines.

K. Commitment to Diversity Assurance

We will be implementing a Diversity Plan based on the plan already in place in the Department of Education at USCB. In our annual report to the South Carolina Department of Education, we will provide evidence of implementation of the Diversity Plan.

Candidates possess a strong knowledge of cultural diversity issues that includes global and multicultural perspectives.

USCB's General Education program includes a distribution requirement on global and multicultural understanding, and candidates for our program must take ENGL 270: World Literature, which focuses on literature from around the world (privileging non-European texts) in a series of different eras, from ancient to modern.

Candidates can teach all students, regardless of exceptionalities or backgrounds.

The Teacher Work Sample (SPA Report, Assessment 5) is the primary measurement of candidate ability to teach all students, regardless of exceptionalities or backgrounds.

As we also will be seeking national recognition for the program by the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE), we have designed our program to align with the NCTE "Standards for Initial Preparation of Teachers of Secondary ELA, Grades 7-12" (October 2012). Many of these standards and elements address cultural diversity and the ability for teacher candidates to teach all students. For example,

- Candidates are to use "instructional strategies that are motivating and accessible to all students, including English language learners, students with special needs, students from diverse language and learning backgrounds, those designated as high achieving, and those at risk of failure" (NCTE 3.1; see SPA Report Assessments 3, 4, and 5).
- Candidates "plan and implement instruction based on...school and community contexts, and knowledge about student's linguistic and cultural backgrounds" (NCTE 5.1; see SPA Report Assessment 5).
- Candidates "demonstrate knowledge of how theories and research about social justice, diversity, equity, student identities, and schools as institutions can enhance students' opportunities to learn in English Language Arts" (NCTE 6, see SPA Report Assessments 3, 4, 5, 6, and 8).

SECTION I
Context

1. Description of any state or institutional policies that may influence the application of NCTE standards.

The South Carolina Educator Licensure Manual describes the requirements for certification to teach in the state. The Regular Program Add-on Certification requirements for secondary English certification as outlined in the Manual are the following:

- Bachelor's degree
- Initial, or professional certificate at the secondary level
- Minimum qualifying score(s) on the content-area examination(s) required by the State Board of Education
- Courses in Language Structure and Skills (semester hours required)
 - Composition and Rhetoric: 6
 - Advanced Composition and Rhetoric: 3
 - Development of Modern English: 3
 - Modern English Grammar: 3
 - Teaching of Reading (Secondary): 3
- Courses in Literature
 - British Literature: 3
 - American Literature: 3
 - Adolescent Literature: 3
 - Literary Criticism: 3
 - Elective in Literature: 3

The above requirements are accounted for in this proposal (see Section I, #5 below for the curriculum. While field experience requirements from the South Carolina Department of Education as outlined in Policy Guidelines for South Carolina Educator Preparation Units are provided below in #2, other standards as required by the South Carolina Department of Education (ADEPT, EEDA, etc.) are accounted for in III. South Carolina Department of Education Requirements above.

The document “Standards, Policies, and Procedures for South Carolina Educator Preparation Units” (effective August 2012, amended 2014) provides requirements regarding standards of conduct.

All candidates must be provided specific written information regarding the standards of conduct (based on (SC Code Ann. §§ 59-25-160, 59-25-530, 63-17-1060) required of South Carolina educators for initial certification. Candidates’ professional conduct is assessed using the Formative Observation Form and the Internship Midterm and Final Evaluations.

These items are addressed in III. South Carolina Department of Education Requirements above.

2. Description of the field and clinical experiences required for the program, including the number of hours for early field experiences and the number of hours/weeks for student teaching or internships.

The document “Standards, Policies, and Procedures for South Carolina Educator Preparation Units” (effective August 2012, amended 2014) provides requirements regarding field experiences.

All teacher preparation programs and other school personnel preparation programs must provide field experiences (also known as the practicum) that provide candidates with a variety of progressive experiences in multiple and diverse settings. All candidates must complete a minimum of 100 hours of field experiences prior to clinical practice (student teaching) at the initial undergraduate level.

Requirements for the clinical practice experience at the initial level must include the following (language quoted from “Standards, Policies, and Procedures”):

- Teacher education candidates at the initial undergraduate level complete a minimum of 100 hours of field experiences in multiple and diverse settings prior to their clinical experience (student teaching).
- Teacher education candidates at the initial graduate level must complete a minimum of 75 hours of field experiences prior to their clinical experience.
- Teacher education candidates have an intensive, continuous clinical experience in a public school in the state of South Carolina.
- The clinical experience must be the equivalent of a minimum of twelve weeks or sixty full days.
- The candidate must teach independently a minimum of ten full days in one setting.
- During the clinical phase, the candidate adheres to the daily schedule of the cooperating teacher including activities such as bus duty, faculty meetings and parent conferences.
- Each candidate is supervised by one or more institutional clinical faculty who has preparation in both the supervision of education and in the teaching area of the candidate and is ADEPT-trained.
- Each candidate must be supervised by one or more school-based clinical faculty (the cooperating teacher) who is trained in the ADEPT system.
- Each candidate must receive formative ADEPT evaluations and assistance from both their institutional clinical faculty and their school-based clinical faculty. These formative evaluations will provide the candidate with written and oral feedback in terms of all ADEPT standards and must be based on a minimum of four classroom observations (at least two by the institutional clinical faculty and two by the cooperating teacher). Formative ADEPT evaluations, based on appropriate ADEPT standards, are also required for candidates preparing to work as other school personnel. Each candidate must receive at least one summative ADEPT evaluation prepared by both the institutional clinical faculty and the cooperating teacher. The summative evaluation must be aligned with all ADEPT formal evaluation guidelines; must include all evaluation procedures, including at least one summative evaluation by the faculty supervisor and one summative evaluation by the cooperating teacher; and must ensure that the candidate receives both oral and written feedback on all ADEPT standards. Summative evaluations based on appropriate ADEPT standards are also required for candidates preparing to work as other school personnel.

- Each candidate's background must be screened and approved through a SLED check prior to participation in any field experience.
- Each candidate's background must be reviewed and cleared by SLED and the Federal Bureau of Investigation prior to clinical practice.
- Each candidate must be advised that prior arrests or convictions could affect ability to complete the clinical experience and qualify for certification in South Carolina.

3. Description of the criteria for admission to the program, including required overall GPAs and minimum grade requirements for English content courses accepted by the program. Also describe any other requirements such as standardized testing results, recommendations, and/or entrance portfolios.

Students must fulfill USCB admissions requirements to enroll in general education or program specific courses. Applicants who have earned a 2.0 cumulative GPA on the defined preparatory units and who score 800 on the SAT or 17 on the ACT may be admitted to USCB.

In this section, list the 6-8 assessments that are being submitted as evidence for meeting the NCTE standards. All programs must provide a minimum of six assessments. If your state does not require a state licensure test in the content area, you must substitute an assessment that documents candidate attainment of content knowledge in #1 below. For each assessment, indicate the type or form of the assessment and when it is administered in the program.

Type and Number of Assessment	Name of Assessment	Type or Form of Assessment	When the Assessment Is Administered

Assessment #6: Additional assessment that addresses NCTE standards (required)	“Writing Social Justice” Portfolio	Students 1) research and gather artifacts in a portfolio that speak to the themes and/or practices of social justice, 2) write a critical introduction to the portfolio that explores how they could create “standards-based, coherent, and relevant learning experiences” in writing and reading, through the ideas about social justice represented in these artifacts, and 3) write a related writing assessment.	Fall Semester of Junior Year (ENGL 470, Teaching of Writing)

Assessment #7: Additional assessment that addresses NCTE standards (optional)	Remediation / Multimodal Text Assignment	Students remediate an essay they have written into a multimodal text and provide a rationale for the remediation.	Spring Semester of Sophomore Year (ENGL 460, Advanced Composition)
Assessment #8: Additional assessment that addresses NCTE standards (optional)	Capstone Portfolio	Students create and compile a multimedia portfolio demonstrating learning across the program, with a newly drafted reflective, critical introduction. SECTION IV
Evidence of Meeting Standards

DIRECTIONS: The 6-8 key assessments listed in Section II must be documented and discussed in Section IV. Taken as a whole, the assessments must demonstrate candidate mastery of the SPA standards. The key assessments should be required of all candidates. Assessments and scoring guides and data charts should be aligned with the SPA standards. This means that the concepts in the SPA standards should be apparent in the assessments and in the scoring guides to the same depth, breadth, and specificity as in the SPA standards. Data tables should also be aligned with the SPA standards. The data should be presented, in general, at the same level it is collected. For example, if a rubric collects data on 10 elements [each relating to specific SPA standard(s)], then the data chart should report the data on each of the elements rather than reporting a cumulative score.

In the description of each assessment below, the SPA has identified potential assessments that would be appropriate. Assessments have been organized into the following three areas to be aligned with the elements in NCATE’s unit standard 1: • Content knowledge (Assessments 1 and 2) • Pedagogical and professional knowledge, skills and dispositions (Assessments 3 and 4) • Focus on student learning (Assessment 5)

Note that in some disciplines, content knowledge may include or be inextricable from professional knowledge. If this is the case, assessments that combine content and professional knowledge may be considered "content knowledge" assessments for the purpose of this report.

For each assessment, the compiler should prepare one document that includes the following items:

- (1) A two-page narrative that includes the following:
 - a. A brief description of the assessment and its use in the program (one sentence may be sufficient);
 - b. A description of how this assessment specifically aligns with the standards it is cited for in Section III. Cite SPA standards by number, title, and/or standard wording.
 - c. A brief analysis of the data findings;
 - d. An interpretation of how that data provides evidence for meeting standards, indicating the specific SPA standards by number, title, and/or standard wording;
- (2) Assessment Documentation
 - e. The assessment tool itself or a rich description of the assessment (often the directions given to candidates);
 - f. The scoring guide for the assessment; and
 - g. Charts that provide candidate data derived from the assessment.

The responses for e, f, and g (above) should be limited to the equivalent of five text pages each, however in some cases assessment instruments or scoring guides may go beyond five pages.

Note: As much as possible, combine all of the files for one assessment into a single file. That is, create one file for Assessment 4 that includes the two-page narrative (items a – d above), the assessment itself (item e above), the scoring guide (item f above), and the data chart (item g above). Each attachment should be no larger than 2 mb. Do not include candidate work or syllabi. There is a limit of 20 attachments for the entire report so it is crucial that you combine files as much as possible.

Please name files as directed in the Guidelines for Preparing an NCATE Program Report found on the NCATE web site at the following URL: <http://www.ncate.org/institutions/resourcesNewPgm.asp?ch=90>

Assessment 1: Licensure assessment or other content based assessment

(1) Narrative

a. A brief description of the assessment and its use in the program (one sentence may be sufficient);

The state of South Carolina requires the PRAXIS II exam, English Language Arts: Content and Analysis (5039), administered by the Educational Testing Service (ETS), for licensure.

NCTE, subject to CAEP requirements, also requires a licensure assessment as Assessment 1.

Students must take and pass the PRAXIS II to be admitted into the Internship.

b. A description of how this assessment specifically aligns with the standards it is cited for in Section III. Cite SPA standards by number, title, and/or standard wording.

We recognize NCTE does not endorse the alignment this exam to its standards. NCTE's A Guide for Preparing the NCTE/NCATE Program Report for the Preparation of English Language Arts Teachers (2012), in its discussion of Assessment 1 and exams such as the PRAXIS II, states federal accrediting guidelines for NCATE require it to collect these data. NCTE, however, has not endorsed the alignment of current PRAXIS II, NES, or other state designated tests with its standards. For the rationale and background on this issue, consult the NCTE/NCATE Research Project on the Assessment of the Preparation of Teachers of English Language Arts (January 2001).

Therefore, we claim no alignment between the PRAXIS II and NCTE Standards.

c. A brief analysis of the data findings

Response not applicable for program consideration.

d. An interpretation of how that data provides evidence for meeting standards, indicating the specific SPA standards by number, title, and/or standard wording

(2) Documentation

e. The assessment tool itself or a rich description of the assessment (often the directions given to candidates)

The Praxis II (5039) consists of 130 selected response (SR) questions and two constructed response (CR). According to the Praxis II Test Companion published by ETS, this exam is aligned with the Common Core State Standards (CCSS) for English Language Arts, the test measures examinees' skills and knowledge of concepts relevant to three categories: reading, including the study of literature (i.e., stories, drama, and poetry) and informational texts (i.e., literary nonfiction, such as essays, biographies, and speeches); use of the English language, including conventions of standard English and vocabulary development; and writing, speaking, and listening. The two constructed-response (CR) questions, or short essays, also address the first and third categories: reading and writing, speaking, and listening. The first CR question asks examinees to analyze the central idea and key literary elements of a poetry or prose excerpt from United States, British, or World literature of any period. The second CR question asks examinees to read an excerpt from a literary essay and analyze the central idea and important rhetorical features used to construct an argument. (ETS, 2015, <http://www.ets.org/s/praxis/pdf/5039.pdf>).

Assessment 2: Assessment of content knowledge in English language arts GPA in Designated Courses

(1) Narrative

a. A brief description of the assessment and its use in the program (one sentence may be sufficient);

Provide a brief description of the courses and a rationale for the selection of this particular set of courses. Provide a rationale for how these courses align with specific SPA standards as well as an analysis of grade data included in the submission. (Limit to two pages)

The range of courses designated here represent a broadly conceived degree in English, including the study of literature, language, and composition pedagogy, and the practice of writing. ENGL 200: Introduction to English Studies provides an overview of the distinctive fields, methods, and terminology employed in the discipline of English, and seeks to improve student's abilities in reading and writing generally, as well as provide an introduction to literary theory. A series of four sophomore-level literary surveys (ENGL 270: World Literature; ENGL 287: American Literature; ENGL 288: English Literature I; ENGL 289: English Literature II) introduce students to a range of texts, canonical and non-canonical, print and non-print texts, exposing students to "a range of world literatures, historical traditions, genres, and the experiences of different genders, ethnicities, and social classes." (NCTE 1.1). In all these 200-level courses, students are required to "compose a range of formal and informal texts taking into consideration the interrelationships among form, audience, context, and purpose" and to "understand that writing is a recursive process" (NCTE 2.1). Further, ENGL 460: Advanced Composition is focused on the composing process, developing a clear and efficient style, reading multimedia texts and writing multimodal texts.

In the junior year, students begin taking a series of specialized courses to prepare them to be secondary teachers, which also reflect the state add-on requirements for licensure in Secondary ELA (detailed in Section III of this proposal). ENGL 432: Literature for Young Adults focuses on how adolescents read and exposes candidates to adolescent literature. ENGL 442: Principles of Modern Literary Theory prepares candidates to use and to teach a variety of literary theories. ENGL 470: Teaching of Writing helps students explore and apply composition pedagogical theories. Two courses in language, ENGL 450: English Grammar and ENGL 453: Development of the English Language, expose candidates "conventions of English language as they relate to various rhetorical situations (grammar, usage, and mechanics)," "the concept of dialect," "relevant grammar systems (e.g., descriptive and prescriptive)," "the influence of English language history on ELA content," and "the impact of language on society" (NCTE 2.2). Two further courses in literacy, EDRD 319: Foundations of Reading for Secondary Teachers and EDRD 429: Content Literacy for Secondary Teachers help candidates understand how adolescents read and compose texts in print and multimedia environments, as well as acquire language.

Two methods courses, ENGL 480: Secondary ELA Methods and ENGL 482: Secondary ELA Seminar, while designed to help candidates plan, assess, and implement ELA instruction, are also important content knowledge courses as they help candidates become knowledgeable about how adolescents read texts (NCTE 1.3) texts and compose texts (NCTE 2.3) and make meaning through interaction with media environments. We understand theories of composition pedagogy to be a part of Standards 1 and 2, and they will feature prominently in ENGL 480 and 482.

In their last semester, candidates will take ENGL 490: English Capstone, a one-credit course, for which they will compile, reflect, and present their Capstone Portfolio (Assessment 8).

Students are also required to take two further advanced courses in Literature, one covering literature before the year 1800 and one after 1800. Students may select from a variety of courses routinely offered by the department—these courses cannot be included in this Assessment because the students will not all be taking the same courses.

The table below, in part b., gives a description of each course and key assignments that show how the course meets these identified content standards. For each course, at least 75% of the course evaluation is keyed to writing assignments, with the other weight distributed variously in presentation and participation grades—grades that are important for educating the whole person and encouraging students to develop attitudes and skills in collaboration, creativity, and life-long reflective action. We believe writing about concepts—exploring how ideas, texts, and concepts work in language—is a better reflection of content knowledge than attempts at objective testing. That said, the Department of English, Theater, and Liberal Studies has adopted as guidelines the American Association of College & Universities (AAC&U) VALUE Rubrics for Reading and Writing Communication for assessing writing projects.

b. A description of how this assessment specifically aligns with the standards it is cited for in Section III. Cite SPA standards by number, title, and/or standard wording.

[...] "A", "B", "C", "D" represent passing grades in order from highest to lowest. "B+", "C+", "D+" may also be recorded. "F" represents failing performance. "FN" indicates the student stopped attending class and did not therefore complete course requirements. "AUD" indicates a course was carried on an audit basis. (76)

The grade point average is computed on the basis of all semester hours attempted for credit, except for credit hours carried under the Pass-Fail or audit options. Courses in which a grade of S, U, AUD, I, or W was earned are not considered in computing the GPA. The grade points earned in any course carried with a passing grade ("A", "B+", "B", "C+", "C", "D+", "D") are computed by multiplying the number of semester hour credits assigned to the course by a factor determined by the grade. For courses in which the grade of "A" was earned, the factor is 4; for "B+", 3.5 for "B", 3; for "C+", 2.5; for "C", 2; for "D+", 1.5; for "D", 1. The grade point average is determined by dividing the total number of semester grade points earned by the total number of semester hours attempted for credit (excepting hours carried on a Pass-Fail or Audit basis). No grade points are assigned to "F", "FN", "S", "U", "WF", "W", "I", "AUD", and "NR". (77).

Students pursuing the B.A. in English, with Secondary English Language Arts Licensure, must earn a grade of C or better in the coursework selected for this assessment.

(1) Narrative

a. A brief description of the assessment and its use in the program (one sentence may be sufficient);

In ENGL 480 Secondary ELA Methods, teaching candidates design and implement a unit of lesson plans for teaching important ELA skills and concepts in a high school setting. The unit is a series of lesson plans for each day the candidate will be teaching, including all handouts, readings, assignments, and assessments. At least one lesson plan incorporates the investigative use of electronic technology. In their initial practicum (ENGL 481 Secondary ELA Practicum), candidates teach these units and are asked to reflect upon them.

Unit Plan Assignment (ENGL 480 and 481)

Please submit the following items as your unit plan:

Narrative (3–4 pages). Write a narrative of your unit plan that clearly states your goals for the unit, and justifies your selection of activities and teaching methods. Support your choices by citing current research about student learning in English Language Arts. In your narrative, engage the following questions:

- In what ways are you planning instruction and designing assessments for reading and the study of texts to promote learning for all students? (NCTE 3.1-3.6)

- In what ways are you planning instruction and designing assessments for composing texts (i.e., oral, written, and visual) and language to promote learning for all students? (NCTE 4.1-4.4)
- In what ways are you planning instruction that promotes social justice and critical engagement with complex issues related to maintaining a diverse, inclusive, equitable society? (In what ways are you planning instruction that is responsive to students' local, national and international histories, individual identities [e.g., race, ethnicity, gender expression, age, appearance, ability, spiritual belief, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, and community environment], and languages/dialects as they affect students' opportunities to learn in ELA?) (NCTE 6.1-6.2)
- In what ways would you change your unit plan if this were your own class? (We understand that inevitably some decisions for your unit will be dictated by school and cooperating teacher expectations.)

Complete lesson plans for each day that you will be teaching. Use the lesson plan template that has been required for all group and individual lesson plans in class. Please be sure to indicate whether you are planning for block or traditional schedules and always include time estimates for the major parts of your lessons. You are required to incorporate English Language Arts curricula and teaching materials from print and online resources of professional organizations where appropriate (cite your sources). At least one lesson plan should incorporate the investigative use of technology (e.g., SmartBoard, iPads, Flip Charts, etc).

Copies of all handouts that you create to support your lessons, classwork, and homework assignments.

Completely worked out copies of any tests, quizzes, or writing assignments, with point values and scoring policies indicated. Include your rubrics for grading these assessments. (Writing assignments must be accompanied by a grading rubric.)

Assessment 4: Student teaching in internship Final Evaluation of Internship

(1) Narrative

a. A brief description of the assessment and its use in the program (one sentence may be sufficient);

The internship experience is the culmination of the teacher preparation program and represents a bridge between theory and practice. The knowledge, skills, and dispositions developed through formal course work, observational opportunities, and practicum experience are put into practice through an intensive practical application of professional attributes as a teacher candidate.

The Secondary ELA Final Internship Evaluation instrument follows the guidelines and organization of South Carolina's "Assisting, Developing, and Evaluating Professional Teaching" (ADEPT) legislation. ADEPT measures teacher performance toward ten ADEPT Performance Standards (APS). The ADEPT Performance Standards concern planning, instruction, assessment, and professionalism. The alignment between the ADEPT Performance Standards and the NCTE Standards is noted below. In areas that ADEPT Performance Standards do not fully address the NCTE Standards, we are adding supplemental dimensions to the Final Internship Evaluation form to more directly address NCTE Standards.

The observations and evaluations of the intern's classroom teaching performance address all ADEPT Performance Standards but two: APS 1 (long-term planning) and APS 10 (fulfilling professional responsibilities). For this reason, further documentation is required. In order to fulfill APS 1 (Long-range planning), interns complete a long-range plan, spanning the entire semester in which the intern is in the school setting. This long-range plan includes an overview of the assessment processes in use, a description of the classroom management system, and an analysis of contextual factors (including class demographics) that influence the approach to teaching. For APS 10 (Fulfilling professional responsibilities), interns complete a questionnaire (based on a template provided by the state ADEPT system) in which they reflect on their own professional involvement in terms of, for example, advocating for students, working for organizational (school) goals, and continuing to be an active learner in the profession.

We train university supervisors and cooperating teachers to use ADEPT to evaluate our teacher candidates in a one-day training session. This training session provides evaluators with an overview of all the ADEPT Performance Standards and of the related teaching tasks (with evaluation instruments) that USCB has designed for the internship experience. In this way, university supervisors and mentor teachers are fully aware of the relationship between the state's ADEPT system and corresponding evaluations particular to the USCB B.A. in English, with Secondary ELA Licensure.

A university supervisor and a mentor teacher both evaluate each candidate using ADEPT Performance Standards several times during the candidate's senior year.

University supervisors are considered to be master teachers in their area of expertise and demonstrate the professional dispositions required. Whenever possible, interns are placed under the supervision of a full-time faculty member. If a person is not a full-time faculty member, the following qualifications must be met for part-time supervision: former teacher and/or administrator in public school division; at least 5 years of successful teaching within content of supervision; written or verbal recommendations of former supervisors or administrative colleagues; current or former state teacher's license; endorsement in the same level and broad-subject area as intern; and a Master's degree.

Mentor teachers who evaluate teacher candidates using the ADEPT instrument must have approval by principal and district office; model excellence in teaching; exhibit high expectations for students; demonstrate strong skills in planning, oral/written communications, collaborative decision making, judgment, and human relations; possess strong instructional skills and current content knowledge; display strong skills in collaborating with other teachers and parents; have received an outstanding performance evaluation for the last two years of teaching; have attained continued contract status; and have committed to the time and effort needed to serve as a mentor.

Candidates receive an introduction to ADEPT in their fall semester Practicum. During the Practicum, they are evaluated a minimum of two times by both the university supervisor and the mentor teacher and also at the midterm and at the conclusion of the Practicum. In the spring semester, candidates participate in a three day Internship Institute where they receive ADEPT training and preparation for their Internships. During the Internship, university supervisors conduct a minimum of three formal ADEPT observations and mentor teachers conduct a minimum of five formal ADEPT observations. In addition to formal observations, both the mentor teacher and university supervisor collaborate in the evaluation of the intern’s performance at midterm and at the conclusion of the internship period. If a candidate experiences difficulty in an internship, an action plan is developed in coordination with Student Success Center to assist the intern in meeting expectations for improvement.

The Secondary ELA Internship Rubric is adapted from Winthrop University’s Internship I and II Rubric (2013) & ECED Midterm/Final Evaluation Report (2011).

a. A brief description of the assessment and its use in the program (one sentence may be sufficient);

The teaching intern is required to complete a Teacher Work Sample (TWS) during the Internship which demonstrates proficiency in short and long range planning for instruction and analysis of student learning, documents the specific activities interns engage in to help students learn, and measures the candidate's effect on student learning.

The TWS requires candidates to “use their knowledge of theory, research, and practice in English Language Arts to plan standards-based, coherent and relevant learning experiences utilizing a range of different texts...and instructional strategies that are motivating and accessible to all students...” (NCTE 3.1), implement these plans based on “what is currently known about student learning in English Language Arts” (5.1), and to assess the impact of their teaching on learners in their classrooms.

The TWS also provides evidence of candidates' mastery of USCB's Conceptual Framework Organizing Concepts: III-The Curriculum and IV-The Teacher.

The TWS is prepared under the guidance of the mentor teacher, the university supervisor, and the ENGL B482 instructor. The university supervisor and the ENGL B482 instructor are responsible for grading the work sample using the Teacher Work Sample (TWS) Rubric.

Teacher Work Sample Assignment

Introduction

The Teacher Work Sample (TWS) provides you with a structured experience to document the impact of your teaching on learners in your classroom. Knowing how to effectively document your progress with students is critical for teacher accountability. The TWS is designed to document the specific activities interns engage in to help students learn. These activities provide evidence that you can apply in the classroom what you have learned in your course of study in the university.

Analysis of the strengths and weaknesses of the TWS will be used for instructional and programmatic improvements. Annually, data will provide the Department with important information that we use to improve our program. For all instructional and programmatic improvements, your confidentiality will be maintained. Candidates' work will not be identified by name in any samples or publications.

Material for the TWS was adapted from The Renaissance Partnership for Improving Teacher Quality, a Title II federally funded project with offices at Western Kentucky University. The Teacher Work Sample was also modified from Winthrop University's Internship Work Sample (2011), and from the TWS assignment in place in other USCB teacher preparation programs.

Assignment

You will teach a comprehensive two-week unit, and you will document the impact of your teaching on learners in your classroom in a structured way. You will describe contextual factors, identify unit goals based on South Carolina Academic and NCTE Standards, create an assessment plan designed to measure student performance before (pre-assessment), during (formative assessment), after (post-assessment) your instruction. One lesson must also include integration of technology. After you teach the unit, you will analyze student assessment data and reflect upon and evaluate your teaching as related to student learning.

There are five Dimensions identified by research and best practice as fundamental to improving student learning in this TWS. Each dimension contains a task, a description of requirements, and a rubric that defines various levels of performance. These rubrics will be used to evaluate your TWS.

Format

Your final TWS product should conform to the following outline:

- Title page.
- Dimension 1. Contextual Factors. Gather and discuss information about the learning-teaching context and how it will inform your instruction.
- Dimension 2. Unit Goal(s). Identify a goal or goals for your unit that will suit your context, align this goal or goals with SC ELA and NCTE standards, and provide a rationale for your choices, drawing upon research about teaching and research about how adolescents read and use language.
- Dimension 3. Assessment Plan and Pre-assessment Results. Design a pre-assessment, implement it, analyze the resulting student data, and use this information to develop an assessment plan for monitoring student progress toward the unit goal(s).
- Dimension 4. Detailed Lesson Plans. Create lesson plans for your unit and briefly describe them, selecting five lesson plans for inclusion in your TWS along with a rationale for why you chose these five.
- Dimension 5. Post-Assessment Plan and Results. Design and implement a post-assessment for your unit topic, analyze your assessment data, and then write an analysis of the post-assessment and an overall summary of the class' progress and your instructional decision making.
- Reference Page(s). Conclude with a list of references, conforming to APA Style.

Narratives

A suggested page length for your narrative is provided at the beginning of each dimension. You have some flexibility for length across components, but the total length of your written narrative (excluding lesson plans and assessments) should not exceed 20 word-processed pages in Microsoft Word, double-spaced in 12-point font, with 1-inch margins, and a header with name and page number. Narratives within lesson plans may be single-spaced.

Research and Citation

You will need to draw upon published (in print or on the web) research in English Language Arts to inform your narratives, and you will likely want to select and modify other resources while doing all the tasks this internship entails. You must document any information (or ideas, even if you paraphrase them) you obtain from material in print or on the web in APA Style, which requires in-text citations (at the place in your work you draw upon the material) and full publication information on a concluding list of References. APA guidelines can found at <http://www.apastyle.org> and in the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 6th ed. (2009).

Tables and Assessment Instruments

Tables and assessment instruments are required as part of the TWS document. Each table should be consecutively labeled with a number and a short description (e.g., Table 4: Assessment Plan Overview). Computational tables must be completed in Excel and imported into Word.

Anonymity

In order to ensure the anonymity of students in your class, do not include actual student names or identification (e.g., initials) or their work samples in any part of your TWS. Identify students by number (e.g., 1, 2, 3, etc.) only.

Mechanics

Write clearly and cleanly.

Submission.

- You will submit the final copy of your TWS to LiveText as one document. Include a title page, Table of Contents, the work for the five Dimensions (including tables and assessment instruments), and a Reference page or pages. All pages should be consecutively numbered from start to finish: Dimension 1 through References. Your LiveText submission is your final draft.
- Throughout the semester, individual dimensions of the TWS will be submitted in a variety of ways to your University Supervisor. As the dimension is assigned, you will be given submission directions.

Grading of the TWS

ENGL B483 University Supervisors and the ENGL B482 professor will provide instruction for Dimensions 1 - 5. In addition, cooperating teachers will provide guidance throughout the TWS. University Supervisors will grade the TWS with input from the ENGL B482 professor. A grading rubric for each dimension will be used to grade the TWS. There are a total of 5 dimensions and 5 rubrics. To pass the TWS (and ENGL B483), you must score at least Acceptable on all 5 dimensions. The final score on each dimension is the earned score based on the descriptors in the rubrics. University Supervisors will forward final TWS grades to the ENGL B482 professor.

Note: To pass ENGL B483, teacher candidates must score at least Meets Expectations on all ADEPT Domains included on the Internship Midterm/Final Evaluation Report and Acceptable on all 5 dimensions of the TWS.

Rewriting. You are permitted no more than one rewrite of each dimension. After you receive feedback on a dimension from your University Supervisor, you have the option of rewriting the dimension following the time frame established. If the first submitted product is deemed not gradable by your University Supervisor, he/she will score that dimension(s) as unacceptable. If any component is deemed unacceptable, regardless of your overall score, the unacceptable component must be rewritten. The next submitted version is considered the one rewrite. The final score on each dimension is the earned score based on the descriptors in the rubrics.

Timeline for Teacher Work Sample by Dimension

The TWS is a recurrent process that requires time before, during, and after instruction; you cannot wait until you are finished teaching the unit to begin the TWS. This timeline is designed to guide you through the dimensions related to planning your unit, implementing your unit, and reflecting on your unit. Your University Supervisor and cooperating teacher will give guidance as needed.

Cooperating teachers should always play a part in helping you develop appropriate lesson plans with appropriate assessments. In addition, cooperating teachers are particularly valuable in giving you information about students in the classroom for input on the contextual factors dimension and helping you make sure that your TWS goal(s) fit into the overall instructional program of the classroom.

Suggested Timeline

	Dimension	Sequence
1	Contextual factors	Before unit starts (your first task)
2	Unit goals	Before unit starts
3.1	Pre-assessment	Before unit starts and after unit goals developed: pre-assessment instrument designed, approved, and administered.
3.2	Assessment plan and pre-assessment results	Before unit starts, after pre-assessment administered: pre-assessment data and analysis used to inform instruction; unit assessment plan developed. During unit: adjustments made.
4	Detailed lesson plans	Before unit starts and during unit
5	Post-assessment plan and results	After unit: post-assessment data and final analysis

Dimension 1. Contextual Factors

Suggested Page Length: 4-5 pages including Contextual Factors Table

Task

Gather and discuss information about the learning-teaching context and how it will inform your instruction.

Investigate the context for your instruction through a variety of sources, such as conversations with school personnel, surveys of students and the cooperating teacher, and publicly available statistical data (statistical profiles of the county, census data etc.). Think big picture but stay close to the ground: be careful to consider how “theories and research about social justice, diversity, equity, student identities, and schools as institutions can enhance students’ opportunities to learn in English Language Arts” (NCTE Standard 6.1), but keep the focus on this particular school, class, and group of students. After the information is gathered, complete a contextual factors table and write a narrative:

- Briefly describe relevant and most current characteristics of the school (e.g. AYP status and goals relating to student performance, parent involvement).
- Next, describe resources available in the schools and community relevant to your students and to your instruction (e.g. after school programs, sports programs, parks, libraries).
- Describe the physical classroom and the environmental demands (see glossary) that may affect student learning.
- Using a variety of documented sources, complete the Contextual Factors Table.
- Describe how specific relevant characteristics of students in your class and their functioning on critical assessments impact your decisions when designing your instruction and assessments.
- Use information from the Contextual Factors Table (see next page) and other sources to provide specific information on these categories. For example, if you have students who are identified as

*Devise your own code not related to student SSN or official school ID.

 Include meaningful information regarding culture/ family, that might help you better meet the students' needs (e.g. travel experiences, living in other states/countries, family professions, cultural traditions, beliefs). Maintain an asset perspective (see glossary) of your students while you do this.

Dimension 2. Unit Goal(s)

Suggested Page Length: 4-5 pages including unit goals chart aligned with state and/or national standards and unit rationale

Task

Identify a goal or goals for your unit that will suit your context, align this goal or goals with SC ELA and NCTE standards, and provide a rationale for your choices, drawing upon research about teaching and research about how adolescents read and use language.

Your unit goal(s) guide the planning, delivery, and assessment of your unit. The unit goal(s) should be significant in that goals (see glossary) reflect all of the big ideas or concepts of the unit. The Unit goal(s) should be measurable, challenging, varied, and appropriate. From your unit goal(s), you will later formulate lesson objectives, which are more narrow and specific, but aligned with the achievement of the unit goal(s).

- Identify the South Carolina Academic Standard(s) that will direct your unit. Use the standard(s) to create your unit goal(s). Limit the number of unit goals to no more than 4. If you have more than one unit goal, number your unit goals so they may be easily referenced throughout the unit. Align these standards with NCTE standards, if possible. South Carolina, Common Core, and NCTE all list indicators after each standard. In some cases, those indicators may be used as unit goals.
- Consult your University Supervisor and cooperating teacher to help you select appropriate standards. They will guide you in developing the unit goal(s).
- Create a table where the standard(s) is/are listed with the related unit goal(s).
- Construct a unit rationale.

Explain why students should learn about the topic of the unit. Describe real-life application (see glossary) for the learning. Explain how this information will connect to your students' lives. Merely stating that the lesson is part of the standards is not sufficient. Why should students be required to learn this material—what, beyond the standards, warrants the inclusion of the material in the unit?

Draw upon your analysis of the contextual factors and school environment; cite research of pedagogical theories and strategies as you plan instruction for

- reading and the study of literature to promote learning for all students (NCTE Standard 3),

- composing texts (i.e., oral, written, and visual) to promote learning for all students (NCTE Standard 4).
- the use of language and rhetoric (e.g., language structure, history, and conventions, [grammar, usage, and mechanics], and the use of students' home and community languages for different audiences, purposes, and modalities). (NCTE 3.3, 3.5, 4.3, 4.4)

Dimension 3. Assessment Plan and Pre-assessment Results

Suggested page length: 4-5 pages including table of pre-assessment results and table of assessment plan overview, plus a copy of pre-assessment.

Task

Design a pre-assessment, implement it, analyze the resulting student data, and use this information to develop an assessment plan for monitoring student progress toward the unit goal(s).

You need to design multiple assessments that are aligned with the unit goal(s) to assess student learning during and after instruction. These assessments should authentically (see glossary) measure student learning and may include performance-based tasks, paper-and-pencil tasks, observation checklists, and self-assessments.

STEP ONE: Designing a Pre-Assessment

Design a diagnostic pre-unit assessment that you will administer to your class before teaching the new unit you are planning. This brief assessment is a systematic way to gather information on what your students already know about the unit and what skills they already have related to the unit.

- Prioritize the content from your unit goal(s).
- Design a brief measure of the highest priority content central to mastering the unit goal(s). Your measure(s) should address both demonstration of understanding/knowledge and the performance of key skills addressing a range of understanding and skills from easy to difficult associated with the unit. Label each item or element of the pre-assessment with the unit goal(s) it measures. The assessment should contain directions for students to follow as well as point values for each question type.
- The pre-assessment should be reviewed by your cooperating teacher prior to the submission to University Supervisor. The pre-assessment should be submitted to your University Supervisor prior to the administration of the assessment and with ample time to make necessary corrections.

Design a simple, clear scoring method. For example, use 3, 4, or 5 items per task, so you can convert scores easily to percentage correct. Other hints: Be sure to include difficult knowledge and skills to avoid a ceiling effect (see glossary), but steer clear of time-consuming tasks such as lengthy multiple choice tests on material you do not expect students to know yet. If you want to use a writing assessment, think carefully about what you want to learn from it, and scale your assignment down to a manageable level. This helps prevent wasting time and avoids pain or embarrassment for students. Clearly explain how you will evaluate or score the pre-assessment (including mastery levels as defined on cooperating teacher's grading scale) to determine if the students' performance meets the unit goal(s). Include all scoring instruments such as rubrics, observation checklists, rating scales, item weights, and/or answer keys.

STEP TWO: Analyzing Pre-Assessment Results

Summarize the results of the pre-assessment and analyze the data to develop an assessment plan for monitoring student progress toward the unit goal(s).

Create a table (example below) in Excel showing the pre-assessment results for the unit goal(s) or each unit goal. (Complete only the first two columns right now). Compute the averages and report classroom results for each unit goal. You will need a separate table for each unit goal.

Analyze the data and link to contextual factors to find patterns of student performance. Describe the patterns you find and how this information will guide specific instructional decisions. If necessary, revise the unit goal(s), pre-assessment and/or instructional decisions based on pre-assessment results. Describe the reasoning behind the revision of the goal and instructional revisions. Using your pre-assessment data and the Contextual Factors Table, list individual students and ideas for differentiation (see glossary). Make sure to include any applicable IEP, ELL, reading, communication difficulties or extensions for highly motivated and/or advanced students in your accommodations.

Table #: Results for Unit Goal # (Excel Table)

(List each student # on a separate line; list ALL students)

Student Number	Differentiation Needs (ELL, IEP, G/T)	Pre-unit measure (% of total)	Post-unit measure (% of total)	Change in Percentage Points	Was unit goal met? (Yes or No)
of 1 st student
Total number of students		Average pre-unit score (%)	Average post-unit score (%)	Total number of students making gains	Total number of students meeting this unit goal

STEP THREE: Making a Unit Assessment Plan

Provide an overview of your assessment plan in a table (refer to example below). List the assessments by unit goal used to judge student performance before (pre-), during, and after (post-) instruction. The purpose of this table is to illustrate the alignment between unit goals and assessments. Your formative (see glossary) and post-assessments (see glossary) will depend on the size and scope of your unit and the results of your pre-instruction assessment.

Keep in mind you will want to assess various ELA knowledges and abilities:

- Reading proficiency and processes of reading
- Reading for interpretative, critical, and evaluative purposes

Dimension 4. Detailed Lesson Plans

Suggested Page length: 3- 4 pages plus 5 representative lesson plans including lesson assessments

Task

Create lesson plans for your unit and briefly describe them, selecting five lesson plans for inclusion in your TWS along with a rationale for why you chose these five.

Designing and Implementing Lesson Plans for Your Unit

Each lesson plan must follow the format for the Lesson Plan template and include all components:

- Related state and NCTE Standards and specific objectives of the lesson with aligned assessment(s).
- Relevance to the unit goal(s)
- Materials/Resources/Equipment/References needed for the lesson (for teacher and students).
- Introductions and Procedures/ steps of instruction including content written in detail so anyone could teach your lesson.
- Differentiation of Instruction (accommodations/modifications/extensions) - Information on student needs and previous assessment results from Dimension 1 (Contextual Factors) will inform your differentiation and/or interventions (accommodations / modifications / extensions). List these interventions by student number within each lesson plan. As much as possible, the interventions should be specific to each plan. Students with IEPs or who are ELL or GT should have specific accommodations/modifications/extensions. It may be appropriate to consult with other school personnel (special education teacher, ELL teacher) in creating interventions for special populations.

- All assessments used during the lesson, formative or summative, formal or informal. List these and attach the actual assessments.
- Discussion of Responsiveness. Each lesson plan should include a discussion of the extent the lesson is “responsive to student’s local, national and international histories, individual identities (e.g., race, ethnicity, gender expression, age, appearance, ability, spiritual belief, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, and community environment), and language/dialects as they affect students’ opportunities to learn in ELA” (NCTE 6.2).

After you teach the lesson, you will also need to document your Analysis of Student Learning and your Reflection, based on the instructions in the Lesson Plan Template. As a part of this, you should document how you are using the data to summarize student performance, analyze whether students learned what was intended, and explain what you will do to increase student learning in future instruction through interventions (accommodations/modifications, extensions with accommodations/modifications, etc.)

Presenting Lesson Plans in Your Teacher Work Sample

For your TWS, you must include at least five representative lesson plans for your unit. Each unit goal should be represented in at least one lesson plan. -

In addition, at least one lesson plan will demonstrate use of technology by you and/or students. Examples of instructional technology might include computer hardware and software, the Internet, “smart” board, digital cameras, digital camcorders, digital audio players, heart-rate monitors, midi keyboards, digital microscopes, handheld computers/calculators, and data collection probes. Examples of technology integration might include students using multimedia software to create presentations; students using spreadsheet/graphing software analyze data; students using digital video to tell a story; students with special needs/ELL using assistive technology to meet curricular objectives. N. B.: Using a word processor to type lesson plans, showing a video or using the overhead projector, or your e-mail communications are not considered instructional technology for this assignment.

Make a table (example below) that lists chronologically all lessons you taught during the unit. Put in bold the five lessons you are including in your TWS.

Along with your table, provide a rationale for why you chose these 5 lessons as representative lessons.

Dimension 5. Post-Assessment Plan and Results

Suggested Page length: 3- 5 pages including pre- and post-table(s) plus copy of post-assessment

Task

Design and implement a post-assessment for your unit topic, analyze your assessment data, and then write an analysis of the post-assessment and an overall summary of the class' progress and your instructional decision making.

The Post-Assessment

Design and implement a post-assessment for your unit topic.

Attach this post-assessment to your TWS. Make sure that you align and label each item of the post-assessment with the unit goal(s) and state the point value. Include prompts and/or student directions. Include all scoring instruments such as rubrics, observation checklists, rating scales, item weights, tests, and/or answer key(s).

Write an analysis of this post-assessment. Describe the post-assessment and how it is aligned with your unit goal(s). If the post-assessment is different than the pre-assessment, explain the differences and the rationale for modifying. If the post-assessment is the same, justify this decision. Explain how you evaluated or scored the post- assessment. Review the mastery level established in Dimension 3 to determine if the students' performance met the unit goal(s).

Complete (and attach) an analysis table for each unit goal. The completed table for each unit goal (example below) should include the following information for all students in the class: student number (Column 1), differentiation needs (Column 2), pre-unit measure (Column 3), post-unit measure (Column 4), gains (Column 5), and whether the Unit goal was met for each student (Column 6). For Columns 3 and 4, report the percentage of success (for example, if students got eight of 10 questions correct, then report 80%) The purpose of this table is to provide an overview of the impact of your instruction on students' attainment of each unit goal.

Summary of Class Progress

Write a summary (and analysis) of the progress your class made. Let published research inform your analysis (of pedagogical theories and strategies concerning reading and the study of literature, composing texts, and the use of language and rhetoric) and cite this research. Answer the following prompts

1. Describe the impact on student learning of the entire unit, using the overall pre- and post-assessment data. Make sure to reference the data to support your conclusions.
2. On which unit goal or lesson objective did students do well? Why do you think so?
3. On which unit goal or lesson objective did students do poorly? Why do you think so?
4. On the unit goal or lesson objective on which students did poorly, what would you change instructionally (and why) to ensure mastery by all students?
5. Using your Excel data table, choose one learning goal and sort the data by mastery or gains. Include sorted table(s) and discuss individual students who met mastery (85%) or did not meet mastery or who made significant or minimal gains. (see example of this below).
6. Discuss interventions (accommodations/modifications/extensions) you used for students including those described in Dimension 1 and others. Explain which were most effective, which were least effective, and why you think so.
7. Looking over your entire unit, list all of the ways you and/or your students used instructional technology, including any Assistive Technology. Reflect on the benefits and drawbacks of the technology you chose to use.

Glossary

Accommodations – Support provided to diverse learners needed to successfully demonstrate learning. Accommodations should not change expectations or standards and/or assessment.

Align – Showing direct connection between two ideas.

Asset perspective - An asset approach does not start with what is lacking or problematic. It focuses on what capacities the individual has that are assets. It is referred to as the glass “half-full” approach.

Authentic – Activities and assessments that resemble real world tasks.

Ceiling effect - Occurs when a student attains the maximum score or attains the maximum score or “ceiling” on an assessment and thus prevents the appraisal of the full extent of the student’s knowledge.

Contextual Factors – Description of pertinent community/school/classroom characteristics that may influence teaching and learning.

Differentiate – Recognizing students varying background knowledge, readiness, language, preferences in learning, interests, and reacting responsively in designing instruction. Differentiated instruction is a process to approach teaching and learning for students of differing abilities in the same class. The intent of differentiating instruction is to maximize each student's growth and individual success by meeting each student where he or she is, and assisting in the learning process (http://www.cast.org/publications/ncac/ncac_diffinstruc.html).

Environmental Demands - The environment demands that can or may interfere with learning. One such demand can be the climate of the classroom, including temperature, noise, uncomfortable seating arrangements, and/or students in groups that place their back to the teacher and/or board. In addition, students working in small groups can present an environmental demand that is difficult for some group members who may have difficulty concentrating on their group's discussion since they are distracted by conversations of other groups.

Formative Assessment – Measurement of student learning taken during unit instruction in order to make necessary changes to teaching to ensure mastery of unit goals. Feedback from formative assessment should also be provided to students with opportunity for improvement.

Interventions – Accommodations or modifications made to instruction and assessment to meet the needs of diverse learners.

Unit goals – Big ideas or concepts of the unit; driven by state or national academic standards.

Lesson Objective – A measurable statement of student achievement that is within a specific lesson that leads to achieving unit goal. Includes a behavior, condition, and criterion for mastery.

Modifications – Changes made to standards and/or assessment in order to meet the needs of diverse learners that alter typical expectations or standards for the class. Modifications are made when expectations go beyond ability level of student.

National Standards – Often used in K-12 content areas because of the complexity in teaching multiple grade levels.

Pre-Assessment – Administered prior to teaching in order to measure students' prior knowledge of content. Data should be used to plan instruction and measure individual needs.

Post-Assessment – Often referred to as "summative assessment." Provides information regarding students' understanding of unit goals after unit is taught.

Rationale – Reason behind decisions made; should be convincing and related to contextual factors, application to real life, and/or educational research.

Real-life Application – How content can be related to everyday life for students.

State Content Standards – Although based upon national standards, state standards are specific to each state. These are used in the core academic areas of English Language Arts, Mathematics, Science, and Social Studies in grades kindergarten through 12.

f. The scoring guide for the assessment;

NCTE Standards are indicated in the rubrics below. As ENGL B483 is further developed, we will continue to develop these rubrics in order to more directly address NCTE Standards.

“Writing Social Justice” Portfolio Assignment (ENGL B470)

As we have read and discussed in this course, issues of social justice are inextricably bound up with issues of writing, language, and reading instruction—from concerns about “correctness” to concerns about “job ready skills” to concerns about what kinds of texts students should be reading and writing. This assignment will ask you to further explore how social justice is bound up with instruction by creating and reflecting upon a “Writing Social Justice” Portfolio.

For this assignment, you will

1. Research and gather artifacts in a portfolio that speak to the themes and/or practices of social justice, appropriate for a South Carolina Secondary ELA classroom. These artifacts will include:
 - a. A key primary text.
 - b. At least five other items—films, poems, music, art, additional texts—that are associated with the primary text. Your selections should demonstrate you are “knowledgeable about texts—print and non-print texts, media texts, classic texts and contemporary texts, including young adult—that represent a range of world literatures, historical traditions, genres, and the experiences of different genders, ethnicities, and social classes.” (NCTE 1.1)

You must include

- i. At least one informational text to contextualize and build background for the primary text through thematic or historical knowledge.
 - ii. A multimedia text to extend student understanding of primary text
 - iii. A work of fiction, poetry, or drama to make thematic cross-textual connections.
 - iv. A young adult text
2. Create a writing assessment for use in a hypothetical Secondary ELA classroom that does something with the artifacts you have collected.
3. Write a critical introduction (4–5 pages) to the portfolio that
 - a. articulates the connections among the artifacts you have selected and the writing assessment you created,
 - b. explores how you could teach writing and language in the context of ideas of social justice represented in these artifacts — explain the goal and organization of the Unit, as well as a few possible Lessons in that unit. (Remember the complexities we’ve discussed in class—your own social-situatedness, your own history and identity, your own history as a writer and reader, your students’ social-situatedness, their individual histories and identities, the material and cultural environment of the school.)
 - c. references specific South Carolina Secondary ELA standards
 - d. explicitly responds (quote, cite, respond) to the aspirational goals of the NCTE’s “Beliefs about Social Justice in English Education” (2009), available here: <http://www.ncte.org/cee/positions/socialjustice>
 - e. explicitly responds (quote, cite, respond) to at least two different thinkers from the “Social Justice and Writing Instruction” readings we discussed earlier in the course

Remediation / Multimodal Text Assignment (ENGL B460)

Your final project of the course will be to transform your researched argument essay into a remediation and a presentation. These last two tasks challenge you to re-envision how you present the argument you crafted in your essay with special concern for the relationship between your purpose, your audience, and your media. Now that you've finished editing the argument, you'll transform it into a different media (other than a written paper). By doing this, you'll practice making your work public-facing: you'll be imagining arguments not just as words or papers we read but also as experiences we create in the "real" worlds around us. Your big-picture goal is to engage your communities—to place your work in contexts that transcend the traditional walls and digital networks of our classrooms—and, in this way, to understand writing (our texts and our authors' texts) as parts of big conversations.

Remediation is "the representation of material in one medium through another. In the context of the classroom, remediation assignments ask students to take a text in one form (either their own or by someone else) and transform it into another medium, preserving the essential features of the original while adapting it to the affordances and audience of the new form." (Digital Rhetoric Collaborative, <http://www.digitalrhetoriccollaborative.org/2014/04/25/digital-lessons-remediation/>)

Look at the word “remediation”: re/me/di/a/tion. The root “media” tells you that this assignment is, in fact, about your means of communication. The prefix “re,” meaning “back,” “backward,” or “again” tells you that this assignment is asking you to return to your argument in your essay and re-present it in a form of your choosing.

Now, you’ll transform your argument from your essay into something else: a collage, a game, a poster, a photo essay, a podcast, a video, a website, or some other artifact (see some more starting-point ideas below). Your primary audience for your remediation must be somebody or somebodies outside our classroom. You decide who this is, and how and why you want to reach this audience with your particular medium. Think about the take-home message you’re trying to make: who are you trying to reach? how? why? what are you trying to communicate? how? why? These are questions you should consider as you’re crafting the essay as a precursor to the remediation and the presentation, and it’s how we’ll come full-circle with the layers of this final project.

Obviously, you won’t be able to transliterate everything from the essay to the remediation, so the process will require meaningful decision and selection processes. You’re already really, really good at this kind of rhetorical work, because you do it most minutes and most hours of most days as you toggle in and out of different written worlds: phones, computers, classrooms, etc. While I expect you to take creative liberties and to be playful and skillful as you widen your technical expertise, the goal of this assignment is not to produce a glossy artifact. It is, rather, to challenge us to think about what we say and how in messy (and often recursive) processes that dramatize our identities as writers within complex contexts and conversations.

You will need to write a rationale to go with the remediation: a 3-4 page discussion that explains your reasons for selecting your medium for your project. I’ll assess your remediation and your rationale in conversation with one another, so that if the remediation isn’t as perfect as you’d like (none of us will make flawless websites or professional-quality audio or video essays), then I can still give good credit for the rhetorical work you’ve put into this assignment.

Here are some starting-point ideas to spur you into action!

- If, for instance, you write on historical and cultural dimensions of human spaceflight and you focus on the layered historical contexts linking nineteenth- and twentieth-century histories to utopian possibilities for our futures, then you might make a space-program-style poster—one arguing not for public support of the space program but for a more perfect world on earth in all the ways you’ve spelled out in your essay...
- An essay on competing dreams in the “school choice” movement might become a board game (Chance? Risk? Monopoly?)...
- An essay on representations of [fill in the blank] in the news might become a short documentary...
- An essay on the desire for human connection might become a song (folk? country? southern hip hop?) or a music video...
- An essay on Thomas More’s Utopia might become a campaign ad (audio? video? website? something else) imagining and updating the platforms 500 years later...now...
- An essay studying microaggressions become a photo essay or a video essay of “small” acts of kindness; or this same essay might become a Twitter essay that transforms studies of particular microaggressions into moments that highlight various speakers, audiences, and hashtags...

Capstone Portfolio Assignment (ENGL B490)

You will create and compile a multimedia portfolio demonstrating learning across the program, with a newly drafted reflective, critical introduction. You will workshop portfolios with your classmates and present your final portfolios to the class.

The focus of the introduction to the portfolio (5-6 pages) and the portfolio itself will be to answer the following questions as compellingly as you can:

- Why is this portfolio a sparkling representation of you as a critic, reader, writer, and future teacher at this point in your education?
- In what ways have you changed a critic, reader, writer, and future teacher throughout the program (how do the items in the portfolio illustrate this development)?
- In what ways have theories and practices of social justice influenced your development (how do the items in the portfolio illustrate this development)?

While the introduction of the portfolio is very important, what you choose to include in your portfolio is equally as important. You may draw upon anything you have written or composed throughout your college career. There is no set in stone number of pieces you will want to include (think in the range of 8-10 pieces but you may include more or fewer). You do want to demonstrate knowledge of a range of texts— print and non-print texts, media texts, classic texts and contemporary texts, including young adult.

You are required, furthermore, to include materials you have written that demonstrate your knowledge, skills, and abilities in the following areas:

- Something that has been revised (with evidence of the drafting and revision process)
- At least two literary critical essays
 - At least one of these needs to be a researched argument
 - At least one of these needs to speak to issues of identity (race, ethnicity, gender expression, age, appearance, ability, spiritual belief, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, and community environment)
 - At least one of these needs to represent a range of world literatures, historical traditions, genres, and the experiences of different genders, ethnicities, and social classes
- At least one multimedia project that involves audiences in multiple modalities (sight, hearing, etc.)
- Something that demonstrates your knowledge of how adolescents read and write
- Something that demonstrates your knowledge of the English language (e.g. conventions, grammar, dialect, language acquisition, the history of language, the impact of language on society)
- Something that demonstrates your knowledge of how theories and research about social justice, diversity, equity, student identities, and schools as institutions can enhance students' opportunities to learn in English Language Arts.
- Something that demonstrates your readiness to interact knowledgeably with students, families, and colleagues based on social needs and institutional roles, engage in leadership and/or collaborative roles in English Language Arts professional learning communities, and actively develop as professional educators
- Something or some things that are creative and compelling and artistic and sublime that you don't necessarily explain — you can include original artwork, photography, poems, fiction, etc. — or include this kind of creative work by others.

You will be evaluated on the following dimensions (see rubric for point values):

- Completeness. Does your portfolio contain the required elements?
- Rationale for Inclusion of Items in Portfolio. To what extent do you give compelling and full reasons for including the items you do in the portfolio? To what extent do these items give a good picture of your identities as a critic, reader, writer, and future teacher?

- Development. To what extent does your portfolio and the rationale illustrate your development as a critic, reader, writer, and future teacher?
- Social Justice. To what extent does your portfolio and rationale illustrate your engagement with theories and practices of social justice?
- The extent you, throughout your college career, have demonstrated competence in the following areas:
 - knowledge about texts—print and non-print texts, media texts, classic texts and contemporary texts, including young adult—that represent a range of world literatures, historical traditions, genres, and the experiences of different genders, ethnicities, and social classes; ability to use literary theories to interpret and critique a range of texts (NCTE 1.1)
 - knowledge about how adolescents read texts and make meaning through interaction with media environments (NCTE 1.2)
 - ability to compose a range of formal and informal texts taking into consideration the interrelationships among form, audience, context, and purpose; understanding that writing is a recursive process; and the ability to use contemporary technologies and/or digital media to compose multimodal discourse (NCTE 2.1)
 - knowledge of the conventions of English language as they relate to various rhetorical situations (grammar, usage, and mechanics); understanding of the concept of dialect and familiarity with relevant grammar systems (e.g., descriptive and prescriptive); understanding of the principles of language acquisition; recognition of the influence of English language history on ELA content; and understanding of the impact of language on society (NCTE 2.2)
 - knowledge of how adolescents compose texts and make meaning through interaction with media environments (NCTE 2.3)
- Mechanics, Clarity, and Design (of all materials).

SECTION V
Use of Assessment Results to Improve Program

Evidence must be presented in this section that assessment results have been analyzed and have been or will be used to improve candidate performance and strengthen the program. This description should not link improvements to individual assessments but, rather, it should summarize principal findings from the evidence, the faculty's interpretation of those findings, and changes made in (or planned for) the program as a result. Describe the steps program faculty has taken to use information from assessments for improvement of both candidate performance and the program. This information should be organized around (1) content knowledge, (2) professional and pedagogical knowledge, skill, and dispositions, and (3) student learning.
