

SC Student Loan Corporation

The effect of the coronavirus pandemic on students and families has been extremely challenging and far reaching. Families are concerned about attending college and the changes COVID-19 is having on admissions processes and financial aid availability. The SC Student Loan Corporation (SCSL) provides the following information and guidance to help support students in making informed decisions about loans, as well as planning and paying college this fall.

- College financial aid offices are continuing to process aid for fall and spring terms.
- The college can process aid to equal the total cost of education, even for online classes, transportation, books, and others expenses
- If you have not completed the FAFSA, do so immediately to receive federal aid. <https://studentaid.gov/h/apply-for-aid>
